628 ARE PLACED IN CLASS ONE

Total of 214 General and 17 Limited Service Men Subject to Call When Hostilities Ceased

Rush county supplied 299 men for the army, navy and marine corps through the selective draft.

There was a total of 3,046 registrants finally classified, of which number 628 were placed in class one. This reveals that there were available 329 men in class one when hostilities ceased and the calls for men were discontinued. Of this number 214 were held for general service and 17 for limited service and were subject to immediate call.

The total registration on June 5, 1917 and June 5, August 24 and September 12, 1918 was 3,865, divided as follows: June 5, 1917, 1,471; June 5, and August 24, 1918, 147; September 12, 2,247. Of the latter class, 161 were eighteen years old, 977 fell between the ages of nineteen to thirty-six inclusive and 1,109 between the ages of thirty-seven and forty-five inclusive.

There were seventy-three class one men ready for physical examination and sixteen cases to be acted upon by the medical advisory board when the board was ordered to stop work. A total of 918 registrants of the September 12 class between the ages of thirty-seven and forty-five inclusive returned their questionnaires, but were never classified.

The number falling into the various classes and their ages and the time of their registration are as follows:

Class one—registrants of June 5, 1917, 228; June 5 and August 24, 1918, 69; September 12, (18 yaers old), 66—(19 to 36), 194—(37 to 45), 71.

SUCCUMBS TO PNEUMONIA

Mrs. Everett Ross Dies at Her Home in Jackson Township

Mrs. Janie Ross, age twenty-eight years, wife of Everett Ross, died of double pneumonia last night at 6:15 o'clock at her home on the Beatty Newhouse farm in Jackson township, following a short illness. She was first afflicted with influenza and rapidly developed double pneumonia after the birth of a baby boy three days ago. The whole family is afflicted with the disease now and the Red Cross has made every effort to afford them relief. Mr. and Mrs. Ross came here from Montgomery county, Kentucky a few years ago. The deceased is survived by her husband and five children. No arrangements have been made for the funeral.

INDUCTION INTO NAVY AND MARINES STOPPED

Country Army Selection Board Informed Old System of Volunteering is Restored.

NO NOTICES OF DISCHARGE

The county army selection board, whose functions are gradually being discontinued since the war has ended, has been notified by the state conscription officer, Major Baltzell, that no more registrants may be voluntarily inducted into the navy or marine corps.

This ends the induction of any registrants by the local board into any branch of the service. The old system of volunteering has been restored and registrants who want to get into the service will have to enlist direct. The board was also informed that notices of registrants' discharges would no longer be sent.

Registrants in the S. A. T. C. at various colleges and universities are besieging the board with requests for their order and serial numbers, which they must have before they are discharged.

It has been announced in Indianapolis newspapers that limited service registrants serving boards as clerks will be ordered to Fort Benjamin Harrison December 12 to be mustered out of the service, but no information to that effect has been received here.

FIVE LAW SUITS FILED IN COURT

Delta Hinchman Asks $5,150 Damages of Hugh Jones For Injuries Sustained in Accident

CAR HIT HIS MOTORCYCLE

Frank Mozingo Files Suit For Divorce and is Arrested For Assaulting His Wife

Five law suits were filed in the circuit court today, one of them for divorce and another for $5,510 damages as the outgrowth of an accident in the covered bridge over Flatrock near the southern corporation line, May 5, 1918.

Delta Hinchman demands $5,000 damages for personal injuries and $150 for damage done to his motorcycle when Hugh Jones ran into him with a machine.

The complaint alleges that the plaintiff was on the right side of the highway in the bridge, twenty feet or more from the southern extremity of the bridge, when the collision took place and that the defendant, who was operating his machine at a "careless, negligent, reckless and unlawful rate of speed—35 to 40 miles an hour," failed to turn to the right of the center of the highway or to slow down to pass the plaintiff.

It is also complained that Jones was "carelessly, negligently and recklessly operating" his automobile and that he failed to sound any warning signal of any sort so that the plaintiff could get out of the way. The accident happened just after Hinchman had turned into the bridge out of the lane running up to the road from the west at the south end of the bridge.

The plaintiff sets forth that two bones in his left leg were broken, four inches above the ankle, causing him to be rendered unconscious. He also alleges that his head, shoulders, right side and other parts of his body was lacerated, cut and bruised. Hinchman says that he spent $200 for medical treatment and that he was rendered incapable of working at his trade, that of a painter and paper hanger, and making $25 a week. He says that he is still unable to work.

Frank B. Mozingo filed suit for a divorce from Bertha I. Mozingo, alleging that his wife abuses him, calls him vile names and accuses him of being intimate with other women, which, he says, is false. They were married January 18, 1905 and separated in May of this year. Mozingo also says that his wife has thrown a tea cup and a stove poker at him and is quarrelsome and high tempered.

The Mozingos have been in court before. On September 9 last Mrs. Mozingo was denied a divorce. Mozingo filed a cross complaint at that time but withdrew it. Mozingo in the complaint filed today asks the custody of their three children.

The troubles of this family were to be aired in mayor's court this afternoon at four o'clock. Mozingo was arrested yesterday evening on a charge of assault and battery on his wife.

The other three law suits were as follows:

Knowlie T. Newhouse and Charles Wilson, doing business under the firm name of Newhouse and Wilson, against David Stoops, to foreclose a garage lien for $125.

Frederick Hilligoss against Horrie Brooks of Indianapolis, to $250 on a note.

NO MORE MONEY FOR DEFENSE BODY

All Outstanding Claims to be Allowed at Regular December Meeting of Commissioners

EXPENSES TO BE LESSENED

Both State Council and County Council Will Enter Upon The Inactive List

According to a letter received by the county auditor from G. H. Hendren, head of the state board of accounts, no more money is to be available for the county council of defense work after December 10 and all outstanding claims are to be allowed at the regular December meeting of the board of commissioners. Mr. Hendren set out that the county councils of defense will continue to exist, but the needs for expenses will be lessened because the councils will meet only at the call of the chairman of the state council of defense. Both the state council and the county councils will enter upon the inactive list and it is specifically set out that no more appropriations are to be made for the county bodies.

The letter is as follows:

"The state council of defense after November 30 will not be as active as it has been in the past. The organization has reduced its force to a minimum with a view to saving the expense of the organization. The state council of defense is not to be dissolved, but is to meet on call of the chairman.

"Your county council of defense has rendered a substantial service to the people of your county and on receipt of this letter I wish you would call their attention to the fact that all proper bills ought to be audited and paid at the December meeting of your board of county commissioners. Please say to your board of county commissioners that no further appropriations are to be made for the county council of defense in your county after December 10.

"So please see to it, upon receipt of this letter that an effort is made to close up promptly all the legitimate accounts and expenses of your county council of defense. The county council of defense in your county is not to be dissolved, but is to remain intact, and if there is work to do in the future it can be called together for that purpose. These matters of detail in the future are for the chairman of the state council of defense to take up with your local council of defense."

PLANS RAILROAD CONTROL

President Thinks This Solution, According to Senator Smith

(By United Press.)

Washington, Dec. 5.—The government monopoly of all wireless stations in the United States has been advocated by Secretary of Navy Daniels. President Wilson planned to take control of all railroads as a solution of the problems he put before the congress, Monday. He will give ample time for congress to work out a legislation, solving these problems. He will not return the railroads back to private control.

These statements were made today by Senator Smith of South Carolina, chairman of the senate interstate committee, who had conference with the President before leaving Washington.

RIPLEY BOOSTS WAR FUND

Reports Subscriptions of $3,544.50 on Quota of $4,000

The United War Work campaign fund was materially boosted today when Ripley township reported subscriptions amounting to $3,544.50 on the township quota of $4,000. This brings the total subscriptions to the fund in the county to $23,680.50. The county's quota is $40,000, but there is little prospect of reaching it because of delay in starting the canvass, due to the influenza. No reports have been received yet from Noble, Walker, Washington or Jackson townships and no township aside from Anderson has reached its quota.

ITALIAN ARTISTS TO BE HERE FRIDAY

Engagement Which was Cancelled Monday Night will be Filled by Original Company.

ELKHART CONCERT PRAISED

The Victor Italian Artists, who were unable to give an entertainment Monday night on account of the illness of the accompanist, will appear at St. Paul's M. E. church Friday evening at 8 o'clock. The accompanist is again with the organization and it is assured that they will be here because they will come from Milford Wayne county, where they will give a concert tonight. The company appeared at Elkhart last night and word from there today was that the entertainment was exceptionally good. The Italian artists were able to fill their engagement here because of cancellations in the southern part of the state due to the influenza.

The company is composed of seven men, all soloists of ability. They give both vocal and instrumental numbers and many ensemble numbers in costume. According to word received here today, a tenor soloist with the organization has been widely praised. This will be the third entertainment on the winter lyceum course and all holders of season tickets are entitled to attend.

DAILY AVERAGE IS MAINTAINED IN CITY

Four More Cases of Influenza Reported Here and Total of 20 in County up to Noon

WEBB SCHOOL CLOSED TODAY

The daily average for new cases of the influenza in Rushville was maintained today when four additional patients were reported for the 24-hour period ending at noon. In addition, ten new cases developing in the vicinity of Rushville were reported by Rushville doctors. Dr. Barnett of Homer was the only doctor outside of Rushville to make a report during the 24-hour period. He informed the county health officer he had six patients, making the total twenty, and bringing the total reported during the epidemic to 1,382.

The Rushville township consolidated school in the Webb neighborhood southwest of the city was closed this morning on account of the illness of three teachers in the school.

Word from Milroy was that the epidemic is unabated there and that new cases are developing every day. Dr. Lampton reported this morning that he now has 114 influenza patients under his care.

The new patients in Rushville are John Wyatt and Mildred Murphy, both school children; Doris Crum, age two years, and Jesse Craig.

REVEALS YANKS ENDED THE WAR

General Pershing's Preliminary Report Discloses Part of Americans in Struggle

RECORD OF GENERAL BUNDY

Approximately 20,000 Indiana Men Fought in the Decisive Campaign on the Meuse

Washington, Dec. 5.—General Pershing's preliminary report on the combat operations of the American expeditionary force reveals clearly that it was the army of the United States that brought the war to an end. On November 3, when the Rainbow division reached a point on the Meuse opposite Sedan, the army had, according to the commanding general, reached the strategical goal. "It cut the enemy's main line of communications and nothing but surrender or an armistice could save his army from complete disaster," says the commanding general.

Twenty-one American divisions were engaged in this last phase of the Meuse-Argonne battle. It will probably never be possible to ascertain with any degree of certainty the number of Indiana men in this closing engagement of the war.

The 42nd Division was there up in front and in the twenty other divisions were probably 15,000 or 20,000 Indiana men. The volunteers from the state went in early and as a rule were assigned to the regulars included in the divisions that were in this battle.

Forty enemy divisions were used against the twenty-one United States divisions in the Meuse-Argonne battle between September 26 and November 6. Despite the overwhelming odds against the American troops the twenty-one divisions took 26,059 prisoners and 468 guns. While General Pershing does not say so, it is evident from what he does say that he believes history will treat this battle as one of the greatest military engagements in the history of the world. The general does not speak specifically of the losses of this the last battle of the war, but the casualty lists which are still coming in tell that story.

General Pershing's report affords some fair glimpses of things in which Indiana people are particularly interested, though the report is lacking in details.

The general tells how on March 28 he placed at the disposal of Marshal Foch all the American forces in France. On May 27 the German Aisne offensive began; there was a rapid advance toward the River Marne and Paris, and according to General Pershing, "the allies faced a crisis equally as grave as that of the Picardy offensive in March."

It was on that day, May 27, that General Pershing sent the 3d division to the Marne. The motorized machine gun battalion preceded the other units and successfully held the bridgehead at the Marne opposite Chateau Thierry."

Then Major-General Omar Bundy, of Indiana, appears on the scene with the 2d division which he commanded. This division, General Pershing says, was in reserve near Montdidier.

It was sent by motor trucks and other available transport to check the progress of the enemy toward Paris. "The division attacked and retook the town and railroad station at Bouresches and sturdily held its ground against the enemy's best guard divisions," says General Pershing. "In the battle of Belleau wood which followed, our men proved their superiority and gained a strong tactical position with far greater loss to the enemy than to ourselves. On July 1, before the 2d was relieved, it captured the village of Vaux with splendid precision.

PRESENT AND POST WAR PROBLEMS

This Was Subject of an Address of Sen. Thomas Delivered to Thrift Conference

WASTE IS ENEMY OF THRIFT

Thrift is the Best Cure for Discontentment and Grows with its Practice, he Says.

New York, Dec. 5.—"Ours is a land of waste, and waste is the enemy of thrift", said United States Senator Charles S. Thomas of Colorado in addressing the Thrift Conference of the Association of Life morning. He spoke on the subject of "Some Present and Post-war Problems."

"Some one has said that with our resources the French would have saved enough since the century began to pay her own and Britain's war expenses", continued Senator Thomas. "The war has brought us the wisdom and the simplicity of thrift. We should make it a national virtue. It is the best cure for discontent, and grows with its practice. A thrifty man need make no search for something to relieve his needs. He has it. It is a fact of the highest significance that modern socialism discourages thrift. It is the foe of disorder, a virtue that becomes hostage to fortune. Hunger is a stranger to it, and hunger never breeds reforms. Hunger breeds riot and bloodshed."

Turning to the subject of Governmental expenditures, Senator Thomas, who is a member of the Senate Committee on Finance, said:

"The war leaves us the legacy of a stupendous debt. It will reach, if it does not exceed $35,000,000,000, or twice as much as the combined debt of the allied nations, including Russia, when the war began. The annual interest upon this stupendous sum will be $1,400,000,000; nearly twice the net total and radius of taxation. The people must bear the burden; for Germany cannot make indemnity. They will bear it willingly, if economy in public administration and the application of every dollar to the public needs shall become the policy of the Government. They will not and should not be content if the gross evtravagances of the past continue.

"In 1910, Senator Aldrich declared that ordinary efficiency in public administration would annually save the people $300,000,000. It would now save twice that sum. If the taxpayers of America will unite in demanding a radical revision of our public service, a consolidation of duplicating bureaus, and the institution of the budget system in appropriations, it will be done. If they will also rigidly supervise public expenditures, taxation can be largely reduced. If they fail to do this, our appropriation will keep increasing, for every demand made upon the Treasury is complied with when political or organized force is behind it, and everything in these days is organized except the man who pays the taxes. Moreover, the huge debts of the nations, however, well their revenue are managed and aplied, will always be a fruitful source of disaffection. To those possessing none of it, yet paying taxes to meet its fixed requirements,the impulse toward repudiation may ripen into an insistent clamor. Once begun, it may spread like the virus of influenza, from nation to nation, and from public to private obligations, Nothing could be more disastrous to a people than the success of such a movement, which will inevitably arise, whatever our policy. It is certain to materialize if in our financial administration we do not at all times apply sound principles to taxation and exercise a wise and frugal economy in expenditures. Nothing is more difficult in a Republic than this, if public interest is lax or non-existent."

WHEN YOU WAKE UP DRINK GLASS OF HOT WATER

Says inside-bathing makes anyone look and feel clean, sweet and refreshed.

Wash yourself on the inside before breakfast like you do on the outside. This is vastly more important because the skin pores do not absorb impurities into the blood, causing illness, while the bowel pores do.

For every ounce of food and drink taken into the stomach, nearly an ounce of waste material must be carried out of the body. If this waste material is not eliminated day by day it quickly ferments and generates poisons, gases and toxins which are absorbed or sucked into the blood stream, through the lymph ducts which should suck only nourishment to sustain the body.

A splendid health measure is to drink, before breakfast each day, a glass of real hot water with a teaspoonful of limestone phosphate in it, which is a harmless way to wash these poisons, gases and toxins from the stomach, liver, kidneys and bowels; thus cleansing, sweetening and freshening the entire alimentary canal before putting more food into the stomach.

A quarter pound of limestone phosphate costs but very little at the drug store but is sufficient to make anyone an enthusiast on inside-bathing. Men and women who are accustomed to wake up with a dull, aching head or have furred tongue, bad taste, nasty breath, sallow complexion, others who have bilious attacks, acid stomach or constipation are assured of pronounced improvement in both health and appearance shortly.

Kidney disease is no respecter of persons. It attacks all calsses, regardless of age, sex or conditions. A majority of the ills afflicting people today can be traced back to the kidney trouble.

The kidneys are the most important organs of the body. They are the filterers, the purifiers, of your blood. If the poisons which are swept from the tissues by the blood are not eliminated through the kidneys, disease of one form or another will claim you as a victim.

Kidney disease is usually indicated by weariness, sleeplessness, nervousness, despondency, backache, stomach trouble, difficulty when urinating, pain in loins and lower abdomen, gall stones, gravel, rheumatism, sciatica and lumbago.

All these derangements are nature's signals to warn you that the kidneys need help. You should use GOLD MEDAL Haarlem Oil Capsules immediately. The soothing, healing oil stimulates the kidneys, relieves inflammation and destroys the germs which have caused it. Do not wait until tomorrow. Go to your druggist today and insist on his supplying you with a box of GOLD MEDAL Haarlem Oil Capsules. In twenty-four hours you should feel health and vigor returning and will bless the day you first heard of GOLD MEDAL Haarlem Oil.

After you feel that you have cured yourself, continue to take one or two capsules each day, so as to keep in first-class condition and ward off the danger of other attacks.

CLEARING HOUSE TO BE MAINTAINED

Nurses Who Have Been in Service Will be Assisted in Finding Employment Upon Return

NURSING WORK OUTLINE

With the coming of peace, the department of nursing of the American Red Cross plans to establish and maintain a clearing house of nursing service. Wherever possible nurses who have been in service will be assisted to find employment upon their return home.

Miss V. Lota Lorimer, R. N., Lake division director of nursing, has just returned from a conference held at National Red Cross headquarters where the program for the future Red Cross nursing work was outlined.

"The Red Cross nurses abroad," says Miss Lorimer, "are being asked to continue in service until officially mustered out. There is so much work yet to be done tha tthere is no telling how soon the nurses will get home."

This employment plan will provide, through the Red Cross department of nursing, against possible emergencies such as the recent epidemic. All nurses are urged to enroll with the Red Cross so as to be available in community and national crisis.

The department of nursing is to establish in the Lake division a public health service in co-operation with local chapters. A public health supervisor will be maintained by the division for Kentucky and Indiana.

EXTENDS FREIGHT INCREASE

State Commission Gives Railroads 90 More Days For Advanced Rates

(By United Press.)

Indianapolis, Dec. 5.—The Public service commission today issued an order extending for 90 days the authority of the railroads to charge a 15 percent advance on interstate freight shipments. The right to claim the 15 percent advance for one year was given the railroad commission a year ago. By today's order the commission asserts indirectly its authority to control freight rates on interstate shipments in opposition to the attitude of the national railroad administration, that it has sole authority over railroad rates.

Caring for Soldiers.

The department of the interior has prepared a brief but comprehensive summary of soldier-settlement legislation of other English-speaking countries as a help to the people of this Nation to understand and deal with one of the reconstruction problems which confronts us. The laws have special value because in most countries they are the outgrowth of several years' experience, prior to the war, with a rural development under which land was bought, subdivided, improved, and sold to settlers on long-time payments. Provision for soldier settlement required therefore, only the broadening of a system of laws and policies already in operation.

One important feature of these laws is the provision for cooperation between the federal and state authorities in Canada and Australia, and generally speaking, between the central government and the local authorities.

Australia, which has an area about equal to the United States, has a comprehensive scheme for cooperation between the commonwealth government and the several state governments, under which the states provide the land and the federal government provides the money for reclamation, where this is necessary, and for financing the improvement and equipment for farms. Such co-operation makes the movement truly national because it enlists all section of the country and mobilizes in the service of soldiers public agencies which have the practical and technical knowledge needed to secure the desired results with the least effort, money, and time.

Co-operation, it is thought, should be the outstanding feature of our legislation. If the movement is to be national in the fullest sense, every state should provide opportunities for its sons and should contribute to the expense and share in the direction of the movement. If this plan is followed, state legislation is as necessary as federal legisaltion and both ought to be enacted this winter.

Santa Claus Brings Peace.

As far as we can tell, the peace conference will be getting lined up about Christmas.

You and I might have been born in any epoch. We might have been living in A. D. I, and have seen the firs Christmas. But we didn't.

We have at any rate the privilege of living in 1918, and seeing the greatest of all Christmas except one.

We must celebrate it as such. And Christmas giving this year must be more than a perfunctory exercise, even though we combine discretion with liberality.

Store-clerks in Rushville have as good a right as any to share in the rejoicings, and it is worse than churlish to spoil the season for any of them by making it unduly laborious.

Let us get our shopping done at once, so that they may be free to celebrate.

It is to be hoped that the members of Congress will not devote the time of the president's absence to drawing on the blackboard and throwing spit-balls at each other.

Many a young soldier who set sail for Europe in an ordinary transport will embark for home in a transport of delight.

It is strange that a rider should abolish ponies. But that is just what the prohibition rider did.

VERSAILLES IS HISTORIC SPOT

May Not Have Enough Hotel Facilities For Peace Conference But Has Background

PALACE BUILT BY LOUIS XIV

Usually When Two or More Nations Fight Till Money is Spent Meet Here to Make Treaty

Versailles, Nov. 16. (By Mail).—This is a great town for a peace conference. Although it isn't quite half as big as Toledo, Ohio, in point population, and has not nearly the hotel accomodations available in Salt Lake City, and has no convention hall in the class of the Auditorium at St. Paul, Minn., it has one qualification which absolutely puts those American cities out of the race for the world's greatest peace confeernce.

It has background.

Background is as essential to a successful peace conference as is chile con carne to a Mexican carnival. It is expensive, and the right kind cannot be bought in any market any more, the late war having used up the entire current output.

The historical background of Versailles cost a France a century of starvation, an ocean of blood, a cycle of candal, a few billion francs, and a heartache that throbbed so powerfully that it jarred dynasties and empires off the earth.

Louis XIII, who was a goodly king, went hunting in the woods where now stands Versailles, one day about 1624. He had fine luck hunting, but at night he had to sleep in a hotel where there were some common folk sleeping, and sitting about talking politics! Sleeping in the same building with wagoners and farmers was shocking to Louis, for Louis was a regular king. He decided to build a little chateau near his hunting grounds, where he could sleep in peace once or twice a year, for he had no automobile to take him back to Paris at the end of a perfect hunting day.

That chateau of Louis XIII, a very unbeautiful but highly expensive house, still stands, with the magnificent Palace of Versailles built around it.

The palace itself could house 10,000 persons very easily, but it doesn't, and never did.

It is used as a museum, and as a monument to the stupendous extravagance, effontery, and futility of monarchy. It is used also for peace conferences now and then. Usually when two or more nations have struggled so long on the battlefield that all the common folk's money has been spent and the fortunes of the counts and dukes have been threatened, delegates of the belligerent nations have gathered at Versailles and signed a peace treaty. Now it is proposed that representatives of practically all nations of any importance and representatives of all classes of human beings, meet here to proclaim the end of war and autocracy.

Louis XV made some changes and pretty much got lost in the big corridors.

Louis XVI did some more building and tearing down and improving.

Napoleon neglected the great palace, and afterward remarked that he was sorry he hadn't torn it down while he had a chance.

Louis Philippe spent a few millions repairing and restoring the palace and grounds and carrying out some projects of his own in connection with it.

And here it stands, ready to furnish shelter and background for a real peace conference.

Nobody ever will know how much the great palace cost France under the reign of its builder, Louis XIV. Louis became badly scared when he received the bills, because he had hard a good deal about some disturbers who were whispering that even a king had no right to spend so much money for a palace for to house his lady friends when the nation over which he ruled was starving. So Louis did what many a purchaser of expensive hats has done since—tore up the bills and burned them before anybody could look them over.

The palace was not built with an eye to peace conferences, or assemblies of democracies. Louis XIV didn't know about such things. But Louis had a lady friend, a Miss La Valliere, with whom he was trying to make a great hit. She was the same lady who wore the little decoration suspended about her neck, from which lavallieres (variously spelled and designed in these days) take their name. A certain Fouquet, Louis' minister of finance, also courted Miss La Valliere, and one night gave a big party to win her heart. He spent 18,000,000 francs on the party, but then he was minister of finance. He invited the king, and the king became wroth that a mere minister of finance should be able to give such a party and steal his girl at the same time. So Louis had Fouquet thrown in jail as a suspicious character, and decided to build a house that would knock Miss La Valliere's eye out, so to speak. Louis was a married man, of course, but then he was king, and in those days a king could do not wrong.

Both Louis XIV and his sucessors found that the palace was entirely too big for one lady friend, so they brought in several at a time, and yet managed to keep them so far apart that the royal hair-pullings were few indeed. Among the successors of La Valliere were the notorious Mmes. Montespan, Maintenon, Dubarry and Pompadour.

Descriptions of the various rooms of the palace occupy many volumes, and descriptions of the gardens about the palace occupy whole libraries. But the room of chief interest at this time is the Gallery of Mirrors. It was here that King William of Prussia, ancestor of William Hohenzollern, was proclaimed emperor of Germany on Jan. 18, 1871. And it is here that we may expect to see William Hohenzollern proclaimed nobody, 48 years later. In fact, many Frenchmen are so poetic as to hope that by Jan. 18, 1919, either the peace conference or some auxiliary court may sentence the last German emperor for his crimes. It was here that a humiliating surrender was dictated to France by Bismarck, and it was here that the supreme war council of the civilized nations dictated its grim armistice terms that toppled over the throne of the Hohenzollerns in Prussia and the German Empire. In this most extravagant room of this palace that is recognized as the supreme expression of irresponsible autocracy it is likely that the democracy of the world will be written into a permanent covenant and proclaimed to humanity.

This room is 237 feet long by 33 feet wide, and 43 feet from floor to ceiling. On one side 17 large windows look out upon the gardens. On the other side 17 large mirrors, the same size at the windows, reflect the glory of Versailles and the scenes of statecraft that periodically enacted there.

Versailles may not have enough hotel facilities for the conference, but it certainly has the atmosphere, the background. And Paris is but ten miles away.

RED BLOODED MEN WIN OUT

They Are Always on Top In Every Walk of Life

It is a fact that red blooded men and women are at the top in every walk of life. Men and women with the driving force of red blood, rich in Iron and Phosphates do things, they get results.

Red blooded women are the heads of the happiest and most contented homes, they have the will and the desire to be real companions and helpmates.

Leadership and happiness is only for the men and women who are willing to keep their blood and nerves strengthened and nourished with Iron and Phosphates.

A prominent doctor says, "It is a crime that so many men and women lack the rich, red blood and strong steady nerve to achieve their ambitions. It is all the more so because thin, watery blood is unnecessary, as rich, red blood and strong nerves are within the grasp of everyone. Phosphated Iron makes pure blood by making new blood. It gives strength, brings color to the cheeks, increases the weight and appetite, drives away the blues and those sleepless nights, steadies and renews your nervous energy, makes you feel like a live one once again".

There must be something to it. Everyone who tries it is loud in praise of Phosphated Iron, and you have got to show people these days.

To insure physicians and their patients receiving the genuine Phosphated Iron it has been put up in capsules only. Do not allow dealers to give you pills or tablets. Insist on capsules.

IT MIGHT BE WORSE

London, Nov. 17. (By Mail).—An officer tells of a platoon that had been discussing what influenza was doing among civilians.

The men were standing by, waiting orders to go over the top.

"I'll tell you what, corporal," said a private, with a shudder, "with all these men here close together in the trenches the 'flu.' would make this a horribly dangerous place, wouldn't it?"

COMMISSIONED CAPTAIN

Connersville, Ind., Dec. 5.—Judge Raymond S. Springer came home last night from Camp Gordon, Ga., where, since mid-summer, he had been at work, in preparation for an infantry officer's commission. He won his commission—that of Captain—and he was one of three men out of a total number of fourteen hundred in his division of the camp to win that good-sounding rank.

TO GET PRIVATES PAY

Washington, Dec. 5.—Conscientious objectors to military service furloughed to farm or other labor will not receive the current rate of wages paid in his vicinity, according to an order issued by Gen. March, chief of staff, yesterday. All they will receive will be the pay of a private soldier plus the money value of rations if not furnished.

PROPOSES SOME RAIL LEGISLATION

Interstate Commerce Commission Says Time is not Opportune for Concrete Proposals.

ANNUAL REPORT TO CONGRESS

Fundemental aim Should be to Secure Transportations Systems to Meet Needs.

Washington, Dec. 5.—In dealing with the question of what may be done with the railroads in the future, the Interstate Commerce Commission in its annual report to the Congress today says:

"The conditions, without precedent or parallel, which the war has produced now press upon the congress matters of the gravest national and international concern.

While we do not deem the present conditions and moment opportune in which to recommend concrete proposals for legislation, we may indicate certain lines of inquiry which must be pursued in order to reach sound conclusions.

Whatever line of policy is determined upon, the fundamental aim or purpose should be to secure transportation systems that will be adequate for the nation's needs even in time of national stress or peril and that will furnish to the public safe, adequate, and efficient transportation at the lowest cost consistent with that service. To this end there should be provision for (1) the prompt merger without friction of all the carriers' lines, facilities, and organizations into a continental and unified system in time of stress or emergency; (2) merger within proper limits of the carriers' lines and facilities in public interest to meet the reasonable demands of our domestic and foreign commerce; (3) limitation of railway construction to the necessities and convenience of the government and of the public and assuring construction to the point of these limitations; and (4) development and encouragement of inland water-ways and coordination of rail and water transportation systems.

Among the plans which doubtless will be proposed are the following: (1) Continuance of the present plan of federal control; (2) public ownership of carrier property with private operation under regulation; (3) private operation under regulation with governmental guarantees; (4) resumption of private control and management under regulation; and (5) public ownership and operation.

Additional plans and modifications or combinations of those enumerated might be listed.

If the policy of private ownership and operation under regulation is continued, the following subjects will require legislative consideration: (1) Revision of limitations upon united or cooperative activities among common carriers by rail or by water; (2) emancipation of railway operation from financial dictation; (3) regulation of issues of securities; (4) establishment of a relationship between Federal and state authority which will eliminate the twilight zone of jurisdiction and under which a harmonious rate structure; (5) restrictions governing the treatment of ocmpetitive as compared with noncompetitive traffic; (5) the most efficient utilization of equipment and provision for distributing the burden of furnishing equipment on an equitable basis among the respective carriers; (7) a more liberal use of terminal facilities in the interest of free movement of commerce; and (8) limitations within which common carrier facilities and services may be furnished by shippers or reecivers of freight.

Should the policy of public ownership and operation be adopted, there must be considered: (1) The just and fair price at which, and the terms under which, carrier properties are to be acquired; (2) prohibiting the operation of railways as a fiscal contrivance and commerce of the people, requiring that they shall be self-supporting, and that their rates shall be properly related to the ascertained cost of service, and retaining and extending the economies and advantages of large scale production in transportation; (3) responsibility and relationship of the railway administration to Congress and other Federal authorities and to the states; (4) guarding against the intrusion of party politics into railway management; (5) a status for railway officers and employees under which the railway service will attract and retain the best talent; and (6) maintenance of a tribunal for the determination of controversies which will inevitably arise even under public operation.

The above outline is a mere enumeration of some important points to be considered. We will at an appropriate time report to Congress such information, suggestions or recommendations as we believe may be of assistance in solving the many and difficult transportation problems."

The Biggest Money-Maker on the Farm

Every good farmer MUST have a plow, a cultivator or a wagon and some other things. He cannot raise a crop without a plow, but he can raise a crop, such as it is, without a manure spreader.

All farmers buy plows, cultivators and wagons because they have to, just as the small boy goes to school because he is compelled to.

When a boy grows big so he knows the value of schooling, he goes because he wants to. When a farmer grows big to know the value of a manure spreader and how many more bushels it will make each of his acres produce, he buys it, not because he is compelled to, but because he knows it is the best money-maker he can put on his farm.

If our country demands more food, if we must feed besides the people of our own United States, many of the peoples of the belligerent countries, our duty is plain—we must make every acre produce to its limit. There is no machine that will increase the otherwise normal output of any acre of ground as much as the manure spreader. There is no machine made today that will INCREASE the food production of this country as will the speader. There is no manure spreader made that will come nearer the ideal or perfect machine than the RUSHVILLE SPECIAL Spreader you will find on our sample floor. Come in and see it.

PIGS GET WORMS VERY YOUNG

The time to commence feeding ACME WORM BOUNCER is from the time they are old enough to eat. Feed from birth to maturity. It will only take a few cents worth to do it, and as "an ounce of prevention is worth a pound of cure," it certainly pays to start the pig off right, and if you do so you can keep him right. Worms are persistent pests and they must be fought continuously. There is more money in keeping your pigs free of worms than to let them get worms and even expel them.

"HER BLIGHTED LOVE"

IT is indeed hard to stand at one side while the stream of life flows by. A man or woman condemned to sickness that does not permit him or her to perform the active duties of life, to do his or her share of the world's work, is a pathetic figure deserving of sympathy.

Much sickness, pain and misery result from disordered kidneys and bladder. Failure of the kidneys to do their work properly and filter impurities out of the blood leads to rheumatic pains, backache, sore muscles, stiff or swollen joints, puffiness under eyes, floating specks, biliousness, bladder weakness, nervousness, or other symptoms of kidney trouble.

are effective in removing the cause of the trouble for they strenghthen and invigorate weak or deranged kidneys and help them to normal functioning so that the blood stream is purified and the cause of disease removed.

F. M. Platte (Brakeman), Sec'y. Switchman's Union, 518 Blaine St., Peoria, Ill., writes: "Two bottles of Foley Kidney Pills relieved all symptoms of my kidney and bladder trouble, stopping the backache and pains, correcting the kidney action, clearing secretions. I am also free from dizziness and floating specks before my eyes. Foley Kidney Pills cured me."

HAS NOT FAILED IN ANY WAR CAMPAIGN

Indiana Has $12,000,000 Worth of War Savings Stamps to Buy Before Completing Cuota

J. B. OLIVER, DIRECTOR OF W. S.

Gov. Goodrich and Michael Foley Have Joined in Appeal to the People to Buy Stamps

Indianapolis, Ind., Dec. 5.—Indiana is in the midst of its most intensive effort to avoid failure in a war financing campaign, according to an announcement here today by officials of the War Savings campaign. Between this date and January 1st the people of the state must rally once again to the financial colors if they are to keep the Hoosier war record 100 per cent perfect. With a quota of $58,000,000 to raise for the current year, Indiana has taken and paid for only $46,000,000 in War Savings Stamps. Probably $10,000,000 additional has been pledged, but these may not be redeemed in many instances.

Thus far Indiana has not failed in any war finance enterprise. J. B. Oliver, of South Bend, director of W. S. S. sales for the state is making an eleventh hour effort to arouse the people of the state to their duty and their opportunity during the next thirty days. The work will be speeded all along the line, even in counties where the quota has been subscribed and distributed. Special efforts will be made in such counties as have not taken their allotments.

Will H. Wade, state director of sales for the Liberty loan has joined forces with Mr. Oliver in this final attempt to distribute in Indiana the state's pro rata of War stamps. Mr. Wade and Mr. Oliver have just completed a two week's tour of Indiana intended to arouse the interest of those financially able to buy additional stamps.

Governor James P. Goodrich and Michael E. Foley, chairman of the State Council of Defense have joined in an appeal to the people to buy the stamps.

Indiana and Ohio are the only two states east of the Mississippi river that may make a perfect war finance record by taking the fall allotment of Stamps, Mr. Wade states.

The plan of the governor to name a historic commission which will write down for posterity the state's war record is expected to prove a stimulus to laggard counties in the stamp campaign. Counties lagging in the stamp drive, which are to be urged to make their percentage 100 include Lake, Allen, Vanderburg, Madison, Vigo, Clay, Spencer, Marion, Parke and others that have done equally well in other drives.

Rush county has already passed her W. S. S. quota for the year, having a per capita cash sale to date of $21.60, making total cash sales of $417,933 as against a quota of $386,980.

DEVELOPMENT OF ROADS IS EXTENDED

TO AID UNEMPLOYED LABOR

Approximately $75,000,000 Will be Available For Expenditure During Calendar Year

Washington, Dec. 5.—Co-operative highway construction under the federal aid road act must be resumed as quickly as possible in full measure, the Secretary of Agriculture, D. F. Houston, stated at a conference of editors of agricultural journals held recently in Washington.

From unexpected balances of federal appropriations for the last few years, from state funds beyond what was necessary to meet the federal allotments, and from amounts available during the current fiscal year, approximately $75,000,000 will be available for expenditure during the calendar year. Next year, if all the balances should be expended during this year, and we should have to rely solely on the funds accruing next year, there will be about $20,000,000 from federal appropriations, and probably more than this amount from state sources according to the Secretary's statement. The states, in addition, will expend sums in excess of what they have assigned, or will assign, for federal aid road projects.

"It seems to me," said the secretary, "that we should take a further step—take this step not only because of the importance of good roads, but also because of the desirability of furnishing worthy projects on which unemployed labor during the period of readjustment may be engaged. There will be many things suggested for which Federal and State funds will be sought. Some of these will be unworthy. Clearly such public works as roads are worthy, and it would be in the public interest to make available larger appropriations from the Federal Treasury to be used separately or in conjunction with State and local support.

"There need be no delay in the execution of such a program. The Nation has already provided the machinery in the Department of Agriculture and in the State highway commissions. The Federal aid road act was fruitful of good legislation, and each State in the Union now has a central highway authority with power and funds to meet the terms of the Federal act. The two agencies in conjunction, have been engaged in devising well-considered road system and in making surveys, plans, and specifications. The task will be one of selection, and those roads should be designated for improvement which are of the greatest economic importance, with due regard to such military and other needs as are proper for consideration. There is no necessity for any departure from this scheme. The suggestions made have been canvassed with the President, the Secretary of War, and the Postmaster General, and they are in accord with the view that additional funds should be made available to this department and that they should be expended through existing machinery."

A friend of Senator James E. Watson wrote him a letter not long ago, insisting that the congress should assert itself in government affairs, now that the war is over, and not permit the executive branch of the government to control to the exclusion of the congress.

The senator duly replied to this letter and summed up the situation as follows:

"Woodrow Wilson declines to recognize the upper house or the lower house, but he never fails to recognize Colonel House—the only House he knows anything about apparently except the White House."

There were seventy-three class one men ready for physical examination and sixteen cases to be acted upon by the medical advisory board when the board was ordered to stop work. A total of 918 registrants of the September 12 class between the ages of thirty-seven and forty-five inclusive returned their questionnaires, but were never classified.

INDUCTION INTO NAVY AND MARINES STOPPED

Country Army Selection Board Informed Old System of Volunteering is Restored.

NO NOTICES OF DISCHARGE

The county army selection board, whose functions are gradually being discontinued since the war has ended, has been notified by the state conscription officer, Major Baltzell, that no more registrants may be voluntarily inducted into the navy or marine corps.

This ends the induction of any registrants by the local board into any branch of the service. The old system of volunteering has been restored and registrants who want to get into the service will have to enlist direct. The board was also informed that notices of registrants' discharges would no longer be sent.

Registrants in the S. A. T. C. at various colleges and universities are besieging the board with requests for their order and serial numbers, which they must have before they are discharged.

It has been announced in Indianapolis newspapers that limited service registrants serving boards as clerks will be ordered to Fort Benjamin Harrison December 12 to be mustered out of the service, but no information to that effect has been received here.

FIVE LAW SUITS FILED IN COURT

Delta Hinchman Asks $5,150 Damages of Hugh Jones For Injuries Sustained in Accident

CAR HIT HIS MOTORCYCLE

Frank Mozingo Files Suit For Divorce and is Arrested For Assaulting His Wife

Five law suits were filed in the circuit court today, one of them for divorce and another for $5,510 damages as the outgrowth of an accident in the covered bridge over Flatrock near the southern corporation line, May 5, 1918.

Delta Hinchman demands $5,000 damages for personal injuries and $150 for damage done to his motorcycle when Hugh Jones ran into him with a machine.

The complaint alleges that the plaintiff was on the right side of the highway in the bridge, twenty feet or more from the southern extremity of the bridge, when the collision took place and that the defendant, who was operating his machine at a "careless, negligent, reckless and unlawful rate of speed—35 to 40 miles an hour," failed to turn to the right of the center of the highway or to slow down to pass the plaintiff.

It is also complained that Jones was "carelessly, negligently and recklessly operating" his automobile and that he failed to sound any warning signal of any sort so that the plaintiff could get out of the way. The accident happened just after Hinchman had turned into the bridge out of the lane running up to the road from the west at the south end of the bridge.

The plaintiff sets forth that two bones in his left leg were broken, four inches above the ankle, causing him to be rendered unconscious. He also alleges that his head, shoulders, right side and other parts of his body was lacerated, cut and bruised. Hinchman says that he spent $200 for medical treatment and that he was rendered incapable of working at his trade, that of a painter and paper hanger, and making $25 a week. He says that he is still unable to work.

Frank B. Mozingo filed suit for a divorce from Bertha I. Mozingo, alleging that his wife abuses him, calls him vile names and accuses him of being intimate with other women, which, he says, is false. They were married January 18, 1905 and separated in May of this year. Mozingo also says that his wife has thrown a tea cup and a stove poker at him and is quarrelsome and high tempered.

The Mozingos have been in court before. On September 9 last Mrs. Mozingo was denied a divorce. Mozingo filed a cross complaint at that time but withdrew it. Mozingo in the complaint filed today asks the custody of their three children.

The troubles of this family were to be aired in mayor's court this afternoon at four o'clock. Mozingo was arrested yesterday evening on a charge of assault and battery on his wife.

The other three law suits were as follows:

Knowlie T. Newhouse and Charles Wilson, doing business under the firm name of Newhouse and Wilson, against David Stoops, to foreclose a garage lien for $125.

Frederick Hilligoss against Horrie Brooks of Indianapolis, to $250 on a note.

NO MORE MONEY FOR DEFENSE BODY

All Outstanding Claims to be Allowed at Regular December Meeting of Commissioners

EXPENSES TO BE LESSENED

Both State Council and County Council Will Enter Upon The Inactive List

According to a letter received by the county auditor from G. H. Hendren, head of the state board of accounts, no more money is to be available for the county council of defense work after December 10 and all outstanding claims are to be allowed at the regular December meeting of the board of commissioners. Mr. Hendren set out that the county councils of defense will continue to exist, but the needs for expenses will be lessened because the councils will meet only at the call of the chairman of the state council of defense. Both the state council and the county councils will enter upon the inactive list and it is specifically set out that no more appropriations are to be made for the county bodies.

The letter is as follows:

"The state council of defense after November 30 will not be as active as it has been in the past. The organization has reduced its force to a minimum with a view to saving the expense of the organization. The state council of defense is not to be dissolved, but is to meet on call of the chairman.

"Your county council of defense has rendered a substantial service to the people of your county and on receipt of this letter I wish you would call their attention to the fact that all proper bills ought to be audited and paid at the December meeting of your board of county commissioners. Please say to your board of county commissioners that no further appropriations are to be made for the county council of defense in your county after December 10.

"So please see to it, upon receipt of this letter that an effort is made to close up promptly all the legitimate accounts and expenses of your county council of defense. The county council of defense in your county is not to be dissolved, but is to remain intact, and if there is work to do in the future it can be called together for that purpose. These matters of detail in the future are for the chairman of the state council of defense to take up with your local council of defense."

PLANS RAILROAD CONTROL

President Thinks This Solution, According to Senator Smith

(By United Press.)

Washington, Dec. 5.—The government monopoly of all wireless stations in the United States has been advocated by Secretary of Navy Daniels. President Wilson planned to take control of all railroads as a solution of the problems he put before the congress, Monday. He will give ample time for congress to work out a legislation, solving these problems. He will not return the railroads back to private control.

These statements were made today by Senator Smith of South Carolina, chairman of the senate interstate committee, who had conference with the President before leaving Washington.

RIPLEY BOOSTS WAR FUND

Reports Subscriptions of $3,544.50 on Quota of $4,000

The United War Work campaign fund was materially boosted today when Ripley township reported subscriptions amounting to $3,544.50 on the township quota of $4,000. This brings the total subscriptions to the fund in the county to $23,680.50. The county's quota is $40,000, but there is little prospect of reaching it because of delay in starting the canvass, due to the influenza. No reports have been received yet from Noble, Walker, Washington or Jackson townships and no township aside from Anderson has reached its quota.

ITALIAN ARTISTS TO BE HERE FRIDAY

Engagement Which was Cancelled Monday Night will be Filled by Original Company.

ELKHART CONCERT PRAISED

The Victor Italian Artists, who were unable to give an entertainment Monday night on account of the illness of the accompanist, will appear at St. Paul's M. E. church Friday evening at 8 o'clock. The accompanist is again with the organization and it is assured that they will be here because they will come from Milford Wayne county, where they will give a concert tonight. The company appeared at Elkhart last night and word from there today was that the entertainment was exceptionally good. The Italian artists were able to fill their engagement here because of cancellations in the southern part of the state due to the influenza.

The company is composed of seven men, all soloists of ability. They give both vocal and instrumental numbers and many ensemble numbers in costume. According to word received here today, a tenor soloist with the organization has been widely praised. This will be the third entertainment on the winter lyceum course and all holders of season tickets are entitled to attend.

DAILY AVERAGE IS MAINTAINED IN CITY

Four More Cases of Influenza Reported Here and Total of 20 in County up to Noon

WEBB SCHOOL CLOSED TODAY

The daily average for new cases of the influenza in Rushville was maintained today when four additional patients were reported for the 24-hour period ending at noon. In addition, ten new cases developing in the vicinity of Rushville were reported by Rushville doctors. Dr. Barnett of Homer was the only doctor outside of Rushville to make a report during the 24-hour period. He informed the county health officer he had six patients, making the total twenty, and bringing the total reported during the epidemic to 1,382.

The Rushville township consolidated school in the Webb neighborhood southwest of the city was closed this morning on account of the illness of three teachers in the school.

Word from Milroy, was that the epidemic is unabated there and that new cases are developing every day. Dr. Lampton reported this morning that he now has 114 influenza patients under his care.

The new patients in Rushville are John Wyatt and Mildred Murphy, both school children, Dona Crum, age two years, and Jesse Craig.

REVEALS YANKS ENDED THE WAR

General Pershing's Preliminary Report Discloses Part of Americans in Struggle

RECORD OF GENERAL BUNDY

Approximately 20,000 Indiana Men Fought in the Decisive Campaign on the Meuse

Washington, Dec. 5.—General Pershing's preliminary report on the combat operations of the American expeditionary force reveals clearly that it was the army of the United States that brought the war to an end. On November 3, when the Rainbow division reached a point on the Meuse opposite Sedan, the army had, according to the commanding general, reached the strategical goal. "It cut the enemy's main line of communications and nothing but surrender or an armistice could save his army from complete disaster," says the commanding general.

Twenty-one American divisions were engaged in this last phase of the Meuse-Argonne battle. It will probably never be possible to ascertain with any degree of certainty the number of Indiana men in this closing engagement of the war.

The 42nd Division was there up in front and in the twenty other divisions were probably 15,000 or 20,000 Indiana men. The volunteers from the state went in early and as a rule were assigned to the regulars included in the divisions that were in this battle.

Forty enemy divisions were used against the twenty-one United States divisions in the Meuse-Argonne battle between September 26 and November 6. Despite the overwhelming odds against the American troops the twenty-one divisions took 26,059 prisoners and 468 guns. While General Pershing does not say so, it is evident from what he does say that he believes history will treat this battle as one of the greatest military engagements in the history of the world. The general does not speak specifically of the losses of this the last battle of the war, but the casualty lists which are still coming in tell that story.

General Pershing's report affords some fair glimpses of things in which Indiana people are particularly interested, though the report is lacking in details.

The general tells how on March 28 he placed at the disposal of Marshal Foch all the American forces in France. On May 27 the German Aisne offensive began; there was a rapid advance toward the River Marne and Paris, and according to General Pershing, "the allies faced a crisis equally as grave as that of the Picardy offensive in March."

It was on that day, May 27, that General Pershing sent the 3d division to the Marne. The motorized machine gun battalion preceded the other units and successfully held the bridgehead at the Marne opposite Chateau Thierry."

Then Major-General Omar Bundy, of Indiana, appears on the scene with the 2d division which he commanded. This division, General Pershing says, was in reserve near Montdidier.

It was sent by motor trucks and other available transport to check the progress of the enemy toward Paris. "The division attacked and retook the town and railroad station at Bouresches and sturdily held its ground against the enemy's best guard divisions," says General Pershing. "In the battle of Belleau wood which followed, our men proved their superiority and gained a strong tactical position with far greater loss to the enemy than to ourselves. On July 1, before the 2d was relieved, it captured the village of Vaux with splendid precision.

PRESENT AND POST WAR PROBLEMS

This Was Subject of an Address of Sen. Thomas Delivered to Thrift Conference

WASTE IS ENEMY OF THRIFT

Thrift is the Best Cure for Discontentment and Grows with its Practice, he Says.

New York, Dec. 5.—"Ours is a land of waste, and waste is the enemy of thrift", said United States Senator Charles S. Thomas of Colorado in addressing the Thrift Conference of the Association of Life morning. He spoke on the subject of "Some Present and Post-war Problems."

"Some one has said that with our resources the French would have saved enough since the century began to pay her own and Britain's war expenses", continued Senator Thomas. "The war has brought us the wisdom and the simplicity of thrift. We should make it a national virtue. It is the best cure for discontent, and grows with its practice. A thrifty man need make no search for something to relieve his needs. He has it. It is a fact of the highest significance that modern socialism discourages thrift. It is the foe of disorder, a virtue that becomes hostage to fortune. Hunger is a stranger to it, and hunger never breeds reforms. Hunger breeds riot and bloodshed."

Turning to the subject of Governmental expenditures, Senator Thomas, who is a member of the Senate Committee on Finance, said:

"The war leaves us the legacy of a stupendous debt. It will reach, if it does not exceed $35,000,000,000, or twice as much as the combined debt of the allied nations, including Russia, when the war began. The annual interest upon this stupendous sum will be $1,400,000,000: nearly twice the net total and radius of taxation. The people must bear the burden; for Germany cannot make indemnity. They will bear it willingly, if economy in public administration and the application of every dollar to the public needs shall become the policy of the Government. They will not and should not be content if the gross extravagances of the past continue.

"In 1910, Senator Aldrich declared that ordinary efficiency in public administration would annually save the people $300,000,000. It would now save twice that sum. If the taxpayers of America will unite in demanding a radical revision of our public service, a consolidation of duplicating bureaus, and the institution of the budget system in appropriations, it will be done. If they will also rigidly supervise public expenditures, taxation can be largely reduced. If they fail to do this, our appropriation will keep increasing, for every demand made upon the Treasury is complied with when political or organized force is behind it, and everything in these days is organized except the man who pays the taxes. Moreover, the huge debts of the nations, however, well their revenue are managed and aplied, will always be a fruitful source of disaffection. To those possessing none of it, yet paying taxes to meet its fixed requirements, the impulse toward repudiation may ripen into an insistent clamor. Once begun, it may spread like the virus of influenza, from nation to nation, and from public to private obligations. Nothing could be more disastrous to a people than the success of such a movement, which will inevitably arise, whatever our policy. It is certain to materialize if in our financial administration we do not at all times apply sound principles to taxation and exercise a wise and frugal economy in expenditures. Nothing is more difficult in a Republic than this, if public interest is lax or non-existent."

WHEN YOU WAKE UP DRINK GLASS OF HOT WATER

Says inside-bathing makes anyone look and feel clean, sweet and refreshed.

Wash yourself on the inside before breakfast like you do on the outside. This is vastly more important because the skin pores do not absorb impurities into the blood, causing illness, while the bowel pores do.

For every ounce of food and drink taken into the stomach, nearly an ounce of waste material must be carried out of the body. If this waste material is not eliminated day by day it quickly ferments and generates poisons, gases and toxins which are absorbed or sucked into the blood stream, through the lymph ducts which should suck only nourishment to sustain the body.

A splendid health measure is to drink, before breakfast each day, a glass of real hot water with a teaspoonful of limestone phosphate in it, which is a harmless way to wash these poisons, gases and toxins from the stomach, liver, kidneys and bowels; thus cleansing, sweetening and freshening the entire alimentary canal before putting more food into the stomach.

A quarter pound of limestone phosphate costs but very little at the drug store but is sufficient to make anyone an enthusiast on inside-bathing. Men and women who are accustomed to wake up with a dull, aching head or have furred tongue, bad taste, nasty breath, sallow complexion, others who have bilious attacks, acid stomach or constipation are assured of remarkable improvement in both health and appearance shortly.

IT'S NOT YOUR HEART; IT'S YOUR KIDNEYS

Kidney disease is no respecter of persons. It attacks all classes, regardless of age, sex or conditions. A majority of the ills afflicting people today can be traced back to the kidney trouble.

The kidneys are the most important organs of the body. They are the filterers, the purifiers, of your blood. If the poisons which are swept from the tissues by the blood are not eliminated through the kidneys, disease of one form or another will claim you as a victim.

Kidney disease is usually indicated by weariness, sleeplessness, nervousness, despondency, backache, stomach trouble, difficulty when urinating, pain in loins and lower abdomen, gall stones, gravel, rheumatism, sciatica and lumbago.

All these derangements are nature's signals to warn you that the kidneys need help. You should use GOLD MEDAL Haarlem Oil Capsules immediately. The soothing, healing oil stimulates the kidneys, relieves inflammation and destroys the germs which have caused it. Do not wait until tomorrow. Go to your druggist today and insist on his supplying you with a box of GOLD MEDAL Haarlem Oil Capsules. In twenty-four hours you should feel health and vigor returning and will bless the day you first heard of GOLD MEDAL Haarlem Oil.

After you feel that you have cured yourself, continue to take one or two capsules each day, so as to keep in first-class condition and ward off the danger of other attacks.

Aks for the original imported GOLD MEDAL brand. Three sizes. Money refunded if they do not help you.—(Adv.)

CLEARING HOUSE TO BE MAINTAINED

Nurses Who Have Been in Service Will be Assisted in Finding Employment Upon Return

NURSING WORK OUTLINE

With the coming of peace, the department of nursing of the American Red Cross plans to establish and maintain a clearing house of nursing service. Wherever possible nurses who have been in service will be assisted to find employment upon their return home.

Miss V. Lota Lorimer, R. N., Lake division director of nursing, has just returned from a conference held at National Red Cross headquarters where the program for the future Red Cross nursing work was outlined.

"The Red Cross nurses abroad," says Miss Lorimer, "are being asked to continue in service until officially mustered out. There is so much work yet to be done that there is no telling how soon the nurses will get home."

This employment plan will provide, through the Red Cross department of nursing, against possible emergencies such as the recent epidemic. All nurses are urged to enroll with the Red Cross so as to be available in community and national crisis.

The department of nursing is to establish in the Lake division a public health service in co-operation with local chapters. A public health supervisor will be maintained by the division for Kentucky and Indiana.

EXTENDS FREIGHT INCREASE

State Commission Gives Railroads 90 More Days For Advanced Rates

(By United Press.)

Indianapolis, Dec. 5.—The Public service commission today issued an order extending for 90 days the authority of the railroads to charge a 15 percent advance on interstate freight shipments. The right to claim the 15 percent advance for one year was given the railroad commission a year ago. By today's order the commission asserts indirectly its authority to control freight rates on interstate shipments in opposition to the attitude of the national railroad administration, that it has sole authority over railroad rates.

Caring for Soldiers.

The department of the interior has prepared a brief but comprehensive summary of soldier-settlement legislation of other English-speaking countries as a help to the people of this Nation to understand and deal with one of the reconstruction problems which confronts us. The laws have special value because in most countries they are the outgrowth of several years' experience, prior to the war, with a rural development under which land was bought, subdivided, improved, and sold to settlers on long-time payments. Provision for soldier settlement required therefore, only the broadening of a system of laws and policies already in operation.

One important feature of these laws is the provision for cooperation between the federal and state authorities in Canada and Australia, and generally speaking, between the central government and the local authorities.

Australia, which has an area about equal to the United States, has a comprehensive scheme for cooperation between the commonwealth government and the several state governments, under which the states provide the land and the federal government provides the money for reclamation, where this is necessary, and for financing the improvement and equipment for farms. Such co-operation makes the movement truly national because it enlists all section of the country and mobilizes in the service of soldiers public agencies which have the practical and technical knowledge needed to secure the desired results with the least effort, money, and time.

Co-operation, it is thought, should be the outstanding feature of our legislation. If the movement is to be national in the fullest sense, every state should provide opportunities for its sons and should contribute to the expense and share in the direction of the movement. If this plan is followed, state legislation is as necessary as federal legisaltion and both ought to be enacted this winter.

Santa Claus Brings Peace.

As far as we can tell, the peace conference will be getting lined up about Christmas.

You and I might have been born in any epoch. We might have been living in A. D. 1, and have seen the firs Christmas. But we didn't.

We have at any rate the privilege of living in 1918, and seeing the greatest of all Christmas except one. We must celebrate it as such. And Christmas giving this year must be more than a perfunctory exercise, even though we combine discretion with liberality.

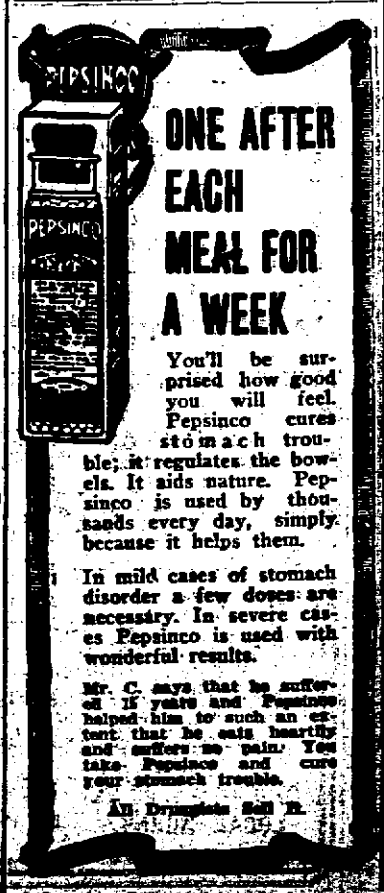

Store-clerks in Rushville have as good a right as any to share in the rejoicings, and it is worse than churlish to spoil the season for any of them by making it unduly laborious.

Let us get our shopping done at once, so that they may be free to celebrate.

It is to be hoped that the members of Congress will not devote the time of the president's absence to drawing on the blackboard and throwing spit-balls at each other.

VERSAILLES IS HISTORIC SPOT

May Not Have Enough Hotel Facilities For Peace Conference But Has Background

PALACE BUILT BY LOUIS XIV

Usually When Two or More Nations Fight Till Money is Spent Meet Here to Make Treaty

Versailles, Nov. 16, (By Mail).—This is a great town for a peace conference. Although it isn't quite half as big as Toledo, Ohio, in point population, and has not nearly the hotel accomodations available in Salt Lake City, and has no convention hall in the class of the Auditorium at St. Paul, Minn., it has one qualification which absolutely puts those American cities out of the race for the world's greatest peace confeernce.

It has background.

Background is as essential to a successful peace conference as is chile con carne to a Mexican carnival. It is expensive, and the right kind cannot be bought in any market any more, the late war having used up the entire current output.

The historical background of Versailles cost a France a century of starvation, an ocean of blood, a cycle of candal, a few billion francs, and a heartache that throbbed so powerfully that it jarred dynasties and empires off the earth.

Louis XIII, who was a goodly king, went hunting in the woods where now stands Versailles, one day about 1624. He had fine luck hunting, but at night he had to sleep in a hotel where there were some common folk sleeping, and sitting about talking politics! Sleeping in the same building with wagoners and farmers was shocking to Louis, for Louis was a regular king. He decided to build a little chateau near his hunting grounds, where he could sleep in peace once or twice a year, for he had no automobile to take him back to Paris at the end of a perfect hunting day.

That chateau of Louis XIII, a very unbeautiful but highly expensive house, still stands, with the magnificent Palace of Versailles built around it.

The palace itself could house 10,000 persons very easily, but it doesn't, and never did.

It is used as a museum, and as a monument to the stupendous extravagance, effontery, and futility of monarchy. It is used also for peace conferences now and then. Usually when two or more nations have struggled so long on the battlefield that all the common folk's money has been spent and the fortunes of the counts and dukes have been threatened, delegates of the belligerent nations have gathered at Versailles and signed a peace treaty. Now it is proposed that representatives of practically all nations of any importance and representatives of all classes of human beings, meet here to proclaim the end of war and autocracy.

Louis XV made some changes and pretty much got lost in the big corridors.

Louis XVI did some more building and tearing down and improving.

Napoleon neglected the great palace, and afterward remarked that he was sorry he hadn't torn it down while he had a chance.

Louis Philippe spent a few millions repairing and restoring the palace and grounds and carrying out some projects of his own in connection with it.

And here it stands, ready to furnish shelter and background for a real peace conference.

Nobody ever will know how much the great palace cost France under the reign of its builder, Louis XIV. Louis became badly scared when he received the bills, because he had had a good deal about some disturbers who were whispering that even a king had no right to spend so much money for a palace for to house his lady friends when the nation over which he ruled was starving. So Louis did what many a purchaser of expensive hats has done since—tore up the bills and burned them before anybody could look them over.

The palace was not built with an eye to peace conferences, or assemblies of democracies. Louis XIV didn't know about such things. But Louis had a lady friend, a Miss La Valliere, with whom he was trying to make a great hit. She was the same lady who wore the little decoration suspended about her neck, from which lavallieres (variously spelled and designed in these days) take their name. A certain Fouquet, Louis' minister of finance, also courted Miss La Valliere, and one night gave a big party to win her heart. He spent 18,000,000 francs on the party, but then he was minister of finance. He invited the king, and the king became wroth that a mere minister of finance should be able to give such a party and steal his girl at the same time. So Louis had Fouquet thrown in jail as a suspicious character, and decided to build a house that would knock Miss La Valliere's eye out, so to speak. Louis was a married man, of course, but then he was king, and in those days a king could do not wrong.

Both Louis XIV and his sucessors found that the palace was entirely too big for one lady friend, so they brought in several at a time, and yet managed to keep them so far apart that the royal hair-pullings were few indeed. Among the successors of La Valliere were the notorious Mmes. Montespan, Maintenon, Dubarry and Pompadour.

Descriptions of the various rooms of the palace occupy many volumes, and descriptions of the gardens about the palace occupy whole libraries. But the room of chief interest at this time is the Gallery of Mirrors. It was here that King William of Prussia, ancestor of William Hohenzollern, was proclaimed emperor of Germany on Jan. 18, 1871. And it is here that we may expect to see William Hohenzollern proclaimed nobody, 48 years later. In fact, many Frenchmen are so poetic as to hope that by Jan. 18, 1919, either the peace conference or some auxiliary court may sentence the last German emperor for his crimes. It was here that a humiliating surrender was dictated to France by Bismarck, and it was here that the supreme war council of the civilized nations dictated its grim armistice terms that toppled over the throne of the Hohenzollerns in Prussia and the German Empire. In this most extravagant room of this palace that is recognized as the supreme expression of irresponsible autocracy it is likely that the democracy of the world will be written into a permanent covenant and proclaimed to humanity.

This room is 237 feet long by 33 feet wide, and 43 feet from floor to ceiling. On one side 17 large windows look out upon the gardens. On the other side 17 large mirrors, the same size at the windows, reflect the glory of Versailles and the scenes of statecraft that periodically enacted there.

Versailles may not have enough hotel facilities for the conference, but it certainly has the atmosphere, the background. And Paris is but ten miles away.

RED BLOODED MEN WIN OUT

They Are Always on Top In Every Walk of Life

It is a fact that red blooded men and women are at the top in every walk of life. Men and women with the driving force of red blood, rich in Iron and Phosphates do things, they get results.

Red blooded women are the heads of the happiest and most contented homes, they have the will and the desire to be real companions and helpmates.

Leadership and happiness is only for the men and women who are willing to keep their blood and nerves strengthened and nourished with Iron and Phosphates.

A prominent doctor says, "It is a crime that so many men and women lack the rich, red blood and strong steady nerve to achieve their ambitions. It is all the more so because thin, watery blood is unnecessary, as rich, red blood and strong nerves are within the grasp of everyone. Phosphated Iron makes pure blood by making new blood. It gives strength, brings color to the cheeks, increases the weight and appetite, drives away the blues and those sleepless nights, steadies and renews your nervous energy, makes you feel like a live one once again".

There must be something to it. Everyone who tries it is loud in praise of Phosphated Iron, and you have got to show people these days.

To insure physicians and their patients receiving the genuine Phosphated Iron it has been put up in capsules only. Do not allow anyone to give you pills or tablets. Insist on capsules.

IT MIGHT BE WORSE

London, Nov. 17. (By Mail).—An officer tells of a platoon that had been discussing what influenza was doing among civilians.

The men were standing by, waiting orders to go over the top.

"I'll tell you what, corporal," said a private, with a shudder, "with all these men here close together in the trenches the 'flu' would make this a horribly dangerous place, wouldn't it?"

COMMISSIONED CAPTAIN

Connersville, Ind., Dec. 5.—Judge Raymond S. Springer came home last night from Camp Gordon, Ga., where, since mid-summer, he had been at work, in preparation for an infantry officer's commission. He won his commission—that of Captain—and he was one of three men out of a total number of fourteen hundred in his division of the camp to win that good-sounding rank.

TO GET PRIVATES PAY

Washington, Dec. 5.—Conscientious objectors to military service furloughed to farm or other labor will not receive the current rate of wages paid in his vicinity, according to an order issued by Gen. March, chief of staff, yesterday. All they will receive will be the pay of a private soldier plus the money value of rations if not furnished.

PROPOSES SOME RAIL LEGISLATION

Interstate Commerce Commission Says Time is not Opportune for Concrete Proposals.

ANNUAL REPORT TO CONGRESS

Fundemental aim Should be to Secure Transportations Systems to Meet Needs.

Washington, Dec. 5.—In dealing with the question of what may be done with the railroads in the future, the Interstate Commerce Commission in its annual report to the Congress today says:

"The conditions, without precedent or parallel, which the war has produced now press upon the congress matters of the gravest national and international concern.

While we do not deem the present conditions and moment opportune in which to recommend concrete proposals for legislation, we may indicate certain lines of inquiry which must be pursued in order to reach sound conclusions.

Whatever line of policy is determined upon, the fundamental aim or purpose should be to secure transportation systems that will be adequate for the nation's needs even in time of national stress or peril and that will furnish to the public safe, adequate, and efficient transportation at the lowest cost consistent with that service. To this end there should be provision for (1) the prompt merger without friction of all the carriers' lines, facilities, and organizations into a continental and unified system in time of stress or emergency; (2) merger within proper limits of the carriers' lines and facilities in public interest to meet the reasonable demands of our domestic and foreign commerce; (3) limitation of railway construction to the necessities and convenience of the government and of the public and assuring construction to the point of these limitations; and (4) development and encouragement of inland water-ways and coordination of rail and water transportation systems.

Among the plans which doubtless will be proposed are the following: (1) Continuance of the present plan of federal control; (2) public ownership of carrier property with private operation under regulation; (3) private operation under regulation with governmental guarantees; (4) resumption of private control and management under regulation; and (5) public ownership and operation.

Additional plans and modifications or combinations of those enumerated might be listed.

If the policy of private ownership and operation under regulation is continued, the following subjects will require legislative consideration: (1) Revision of limitations upon united or cooperative activities among common carriers by rail or by water; (2) emancipation of railway operation from financial dictation; (3) regulation of issues of securities; (4) establishment of a relationship between Federal and state authority which will eliminate the twilight zone of jurisdiction and under which a harmonious rate structure; (5) restrictions governing the treatment of ocmpetitive as compared with noncompetitive traffic; (5) the most efficient utilization of equipment and provision for distributing the burden of furnishing equipment on an equitable basis among the respective carriers; (7) a more liberal use of terminal facilities in the interest of free movement of commerce; and (8) limitations within which common carrier facilities and services may be furnished by shippers or reecivers of freight.

Should the policy of public ownership and operation be adopted, there must be considered: (1) The just and fair price at which, and the terms under which, carrier properties are to be acquired; (2) prohibiting the operation of railways as a fiscal contrivance and commerce of the people, requiring that they shall be self-supporting, and that their rates shall be properly related to the ascertained cost of service, and retaining and extending the economies and advantages of large scale production in transportation; (3) responsibility and relationship of the railway administration to Congress and other Federal authorities and to the states; (4) guarding against the intrusion of party politics into railway management; (5) a status for railway officers and employees under which the railway service will attract and retain the best talent; and (6) maintenance of a tribunal for the determination of controversies which will inevitably arise even under public operation.

The above outline is a mere enumeration of some important points to be considered. We will at an appropriate time report to Congress such information, suggestions or recommendations as we believe may be of assistance in solving the many and difficult transportation problems."

The Biggest Money-Maker on the Farm

Every good farmer MUST have a plow, a cultivator or a wagon and some other things. He cannot raise a crop without a plow, but he can raise a crop, such as it is, without a manure spreader.

All farmers buy plows, cultivators and wagons because they have to, just as the small boy goes to school because he is compelled to.

When a boy grows big so he knows the value of schooling, he goes because he wants to. When a farmer grows big to know the value of a manure spreader and how many more bushels it will make each of his acres produce, he buys it, not because he is compelled to, but because he knows it is the best money-maker he can put on his farm.

If our country demands more food, if we must feed besides the people of our own United States, many of the peoples of the belligerent countries, our duty is plain—we must make every acre produce to its limit. There is no machine that will increase the otherwise normal output of any acre of ground as much as the manure spreader. There is no machine made today that will INCREASE the food production of this country as will the speader. There is no manure spreader made that will come nearer the ideal or perfect machine than the RUSHVILLE SPECIAL Spreader you will find on our sample floor. Come in and see it.

The meeting was opened with the members singing one verse of "America," after which they all repeated the Lord's prayer in concert. The following new officers were elected for the coming year: Mrs. Mary Young of Circleville, president; Mrs. Belle Smith, vice-president; Mrs. Margaret Hoadley, secretary; Mrs. Will Trennepohl, treasurer. After the business matters were transacted a social party took place. The president of the penny social and the president of the corps presented to the corps a flag for patriotic instructor's station. Each member brought a gift, which was placed on a large table with a string tied to it. Then all pulled a string to get their present. "HER BLIGHTED LOVE"

IT is indeed hard to stand at one side while the stream of life flows by. A man or woman condemned to sickness that does not permit him or her to perform the active duties of life, to do his or her share of the world's work, is a pathetic figure deserving of sympathy.

Much sickness, pain and misery result from disordered kidneys and bladder. Failure of the kidneys to do their work properly and filter impurities out of the blood leads to rheumatic pains, backache, sore muscles, stiff or swollen joints, puffiness under eyes, floating specks, biliousness, bladder weakness, nervousness, or other symptoms of kidney trouble.

are effective in removing the cause of the trouble for they strengthen and invigorate weak or deranged kidneys and help them to normal functioning so that the blood stream is purified and the cause of disease removed.

F. M. Platte (Brakeman), Sec'y. Switchman's Union, 518 Blaine St., Peoria, Ill., writes: "Two bottles of Foley Kidney Pills relieved all symptoms of my kidney and bladder trouble, stopping the backache and pains, correcting the kidney action, clearing secretions. I am also free from dizziness and floating specks before my eyes. Foley Kidney Pills cured me."

HAS NOT FAILED IN ANY WAR CAMPAIGN

Indiana Has $12,000,000 Worth of War Savings Stamps to Buy Before Completing Quota

J. B. OLIVER, DIRECTOR OF W. S.

Gov. Goodrich and Michael Foley Have Joined in Appeal to the People to Buy Stamps

Indianapolis, Ind., Dec. 5.—Indiana is in the midst of its most intensive effort to avoid failure in a war financing campaign, according to an announcement here today by officials of the War Savings campaign. Between this date and January 1st the people of the state must rally once again to the financial colors if they are to keep the Hoosier war record 100 per cent perfect. With a quota of $58,000,000 to raise for the current year, Indiana has taken and paid for only $46,000,000 in War Savings Stamps. Probably $10,000,000 additional has been pledged, but these may not be redeemed in many instances.

Thus far Indiana has not failed in any war finance enterprise. J. B. Oliver, of South Bend, director of W. S. S. sales for the state is making an eleventh hour effort to arouse the people of the state to their duty and their opportunity during the next thirty days. The work will be speeded all along the line, even in counties where the quota has been subscribed and distributed. Special efforts will be made in such counties as have not taken their allotments.

Will H. Wade, state director of sales for the Liberty loan has joined forces with Mr. Oliver in this final attempt to distribute in Indiana the state's pro rata of War stamps. Mr. Wade and Mr. Oliver have just completed a two week's tour of Indiana intended to arouse the interest of those financially able to buy additional stamps.

Governor James P. Goodrich and Michael E. Foley, chairman of the State Council of Defense have joined in an appeal to the people to buy the stamps.

Indiana and Ohio are the only two states east of the Mississippi river that may make a perfect war finance record by taking the full allotment of Stamps, Mr. Wade states.

The plan of the governor to name a historic commission which will write down for posterity the state's war record is expected to prove a stimulus to laggard counties in the stamp campaign. Counties lagging in the stamp drive, which are to be urged to make their percentage 100 include Lake, Allen, Vanderburg, Madison, Vigo, Clay, Spencer, Marion, Parke and others that have done equally well in other drives.

Rush county has already passed her W. S. S. quota for the year, having a per capita cash sale to date of $21.60, making total cash sales of $417,933 as against a quota of $386,980.

WILL PLAY SHELBYVILLE

Rushville High School Five Away From Home Friday

The Rushville high school basketball team will play the stiffest game of the season thus far when the quintet goes to Shelbyville Friday evening. Shelbyville always has a strong team and the local five has been working daily in an effort to be in condition for the fray. The Rushville team has been playing in bad luck all season because so many things have interferred with practice and games. Since Ray Burns, the new high school Latin teacher, has taken charge as coach, the quintet is showing more vim and enthusiasm and gives promise of coming up to the standard set by former high school quintets.

DEVELOPMENT OF ROADS IS EXTENDED

TO AID UNEMPLOYED LABOR

Approximately $75,000,000 Will be Available For Expenditure During Calendar Year

Washington, Dec. 5.—Co-operative highway construction under the federal aid road act must be resumed as quickly as possible in full measure, the Secretary of Agriculture, D. F. Houston, stated at a conference of editors of agricultural journals held recently in Washington.

From unexpected balances of federal appropriations for the last few years, from state funds beyond what was necessary to meet the federal allotments, and from amounts available during the current fiscal year, approximately $75,000,000 will be available for expenditure during the calendar year. Next year, if all the balances should be expended during this year, and we should have to rely solely on the funds accruing next year, there will be about $20,000,000 from federal appropriations, and probably more than this amount from state sources according to the Secretary's statement. The states, in addition, will expend sums in excess of what they have assigned, or will assign, for federal aid road projects.

"It seems to me," said the secretary, "that we should take a further step—take this step not only because of the importance of good roads, but also because of the desirability of furnishing worthy projects on which unemployed labor during the period of readjustment may be engaged. There will be many things suggested for which Federal and State funds will be sought. Some of these will be unworthy. Clearly such public works as roads are worthy, and it would be in the public interest to make available larger appropriations from the Federal Treasury to be used separately or in conjunction with State and local support.

"There need be no delay in the execution of such a program. The Nation has already provided the machinery in the Department of Agriculture and in the State highway commissions. The Federal aid road act was fruitful of good legislation, and each State in the Union now has a central highway authority with power and funds to meet the terms of the Federal act. The two agencies in conjunction, have been engaged in devising well-considered road system and in making surveys, plans, and specifications. The task will be one of selection, and those roads should be designated for improvement which are of the greatest economic importance, with due regard to such military and other needs as are proper for consideration. There is no necessity for any departure from this scheme. The suggestions made have been canvassed with the President, the Secretary of War, and the Postmaster General, and they are in accord with the view that additional funds should be made available to this department and that they should be expended through existing machinery."

IT'S A HOUSE ANYWAY

(Indianapolis News)

A friend of Senator James E. Watson wrote him a letter not long ago, insisting that the congress should assert itself in government affairs, now that the war is over, and not permit the executive branch of the government to control to the exclusion of the congress.

The senator duly replied to this letter and summed up the situation as follows:

"Woodrow Wilson declines to recognize the upper house or the lower house, but he never fails to recognize Colonel House—the only House he knows anything about apparently except the White House."
